1. *Summer Fun- Preschool: This group is appropriate for children who can handle being in a small group with support. We use a sensorimotor and play-based approach that supports children who have sensory needs and works on the underlying attention and skill development in the following areas: fine motor, gross motor, oral motor and language skills. We provide additional support for children who use signs, or an AAC, as well as other forms of communication ensuring that every child can express themselves and connect with others.

Activities have been designed to help them calm and focus, learn to play together, to share, follow directions, and communicate with peers and adults. They will have multiple opportunities to improve their strength, motor planning, coordination and fine and gross motor skills. In addition, activities promoting exploration with new foods and sensory materials are incorporated during play to increase their comfort level with these items. Speech and language activities are integrated into various learning experiences such as story time, playground activities, arts and crafts and group games.
